

SAY!

(By CHARLES J. ARNOLD)

SOME COOK IS JACK DAVIS,
THE "WAFFLE KING"

One of the barbers over at Timmons Barber shop, the other day, was bemoaning the fact that he was going to have to cook his own supper that evening. His ability as a cook being limited he was wondering what on earth he would prepare when "Jack" Davis, versatile barber, crashed through with a suggestion that he make some "nice waffles." "Why can you make waffles?" inquired the barber. "Sure", said Jack. "Well how do you do it," inquired the barber. "Why all you have to do is to buy a box of that special waffle flour and then follow the directions on the box" came the astonishing reply.

(N)ice, winter morning, eh?

It's all right to "raze" me now and then but when a fellow calls me up to call me down,—well—that is entirely too complicated. One of my "bosom" friends called me up the other evening to tell me I was a year behind times, simply because a little error had been made in a HERALD date line. But it is mighty easy to write 1929 instead of 1930. And then what is a year or so matter, anyhow?

The weather report in the Herald, last evening certainly covered a multitude of sins. As I remember it it read something like this: "The Weather—Rain, sleet or snow tonight, and Friday, cooler."

My query, the other evening, regarding the uniformity of opinion of family members regarding the volume to which a radio should be tuned, has been answered to my entire satisfaction. So far I have not learned of but one family, where all the members can agree on this question. And he was a bachelor. My inquisitiveness resulted from the situation in my own family and I am glad to learn that we are just like other humans.

NO MISREPRESENTATIONS, HERE! Representing that they were the "last thing in dress", a number of Dallas girls purchased shrouds which had been stolen from an undertaking salesman.

IT SURE WAS!! I just happened along as one of Greencastle's young Americans stepped on a slick place on an ice covered pavement and went down with the customary "resounding thud." As he, unhurt, but badly shaken, arose he looked at me with an expression of enlightenment on his countenance and exclaimed: "It's slick, isn't it?"

There certainly is a lot of "News" this New Year. There is the New Plymouth, the New Ford, the New Chevrolet, the New Ritts, the New Ralgia, the New City Administration and New corn liquor and the worst of them all is the latter.

Morrison Bros.
Greencastle,
Indiana.
Gentlemen:—

I notice in THE HERALD that you are entertaining at your store, Monday, January 13, at a Power Farming demonstration. I further note that a feature of the event will be a "FREE LUNCH" at noon, and that there will be "souvenirs" for everyone.

I have always been suspicious of "Thirteen" being an unlucky number, but I've just that confidence in you that I am going to take you seriously about that "free lunch", so you may count me in—and I'll bring the family.

Yours sincerely,
CHARLES J. ARNOLD
P. S.—Love and kisses to both Homer and Bill.

TEAMS PLAY CURTAIN RAISER

All Greencastle and Bainbridge will assemble at the high school gym tonight for the basketball game between high school teams of the two towns.

Dope favors the Tiger Cubs, who defeated Bainbridge on their own floor in an earlier game, 25 to 21 and who have gone through a stiff season with but one defeat. Bainbridge, however, is always a strong rival, and the dope may be upset.

Another close game is predicted in the curtain raiser between second teams of the two schools. The local lads won a narrow victory in the game at Bainbridge, November 29.

Stone, E. Crawley, Gross, Tobin and G. Crawley will start the game for the Tiger Cubs. Stone, Dawson, Hurst, Godfrey, and McAnally will start for the seconds.

The second team game is scheduled to start at 7 and the final immediately afterward, probably about 8.

BLASTS CAUSE
MANY INJURIES

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—(INS)—With three persons in a critical condition and about 100 others suffering from less serious injuries, following four explosions in the partly demolished Globe theatre building which rocked the heart of this city, officials today began an investigation to determine the cause of the blasts.

The explosions occurred after a fire was discovered in the building during the height of the rush hour last night. It is believed sparks from the flames fell into an open acetylene tank and caused the blasts.

Debris thrown high into the air by the force of the explosions caused the crowds on the streets to scurry for safety in panic. Heavy timbers and bricks which fell in the city hall plaza opposite, damaged many cars parked there. Most of the windows on the east side of the city hall were broken.

The fact that the fire was discovered before the first explosion occurred prevented greater casualties. As soon as the flames were discovered a cordon of police and firemen were thrown about the building and pedestrians were thus some distance away when the blasts began.

The most seriously injured were Charles Hallowell, of Collingswood, N. J., a workman in the wrecking crew working in the building, John McBrearty, a fireman, and Charles Rainer, a policeman.

About fifty of the others injured were able to go home after first aid treatment by ambulance surgeons and in drug stores. The rest were taken to hospitals where their injuries were attended to, many of them then, being allowed to go to their homes.

Traffic was demoralized when the blasts began. Several were injured in the general scramble for safety.

Mayor Mackey missed the blasts by a fraction of a minute. He was coming downstairs to his car when the first explosion occurred. His chauffeur, who was waiting below, was cut by flying debris.

ANNIVERSARY

CHARTER OF UNIVERSITY WAS

SPEAKS AT SPECIAL
CHAPEL SERVICES

CHARTER PASSES BY ONE VOTE

Vice President of Local College Has Studied in Every Building of Old Asbury—Interest ing Historical Highlights Given

DePauw University today celebrated the 93rd anniversary of the granting of its charter. Dr. Henry B. Longden, vice president of the university and patriarch of the faculty, conducted a special chapel service.

Dr. Longden has the unique distinction of having been a student in every building that DePauw has had in its 93 year history. Dr. Longden's first grade was passed in the Little one-room brick building that the University occupied in 1837 when its charter was granted. Dr. Longden in his talk gave interesting high lights on the early history of the institution.

"There was much heated controversy and debate in the state legislature over granting a charter to a sectarian school," Dr. Longden said. "The houses were deadlocked and it looked as though the cause for Methodist College might be doomed. January 10, 1837, Daniel Siegel called for a vote. One of the bitterest opponents to granting the charter was absent due to being intoxicated and as a result the charter was granted by a single vote."

On such a peculiar instance was DePauw founded. The question of a location was the next step. Indiana, Lafayette, Rockville, Putnamville and Greencastle were all eager to get the new college. The choice narrowed to Putnamville and Greencastle, the latter a village of 500 inhabitants, raised $18,000 as a bonus and was given the site. Greencastle at that time was on no main traveled road there wasn't even a piano or a buggy in the village. The catalogue for the new college at that time gave the following interesting facts: Board and room was $1.50 a week. (Not to include laundry). Chapel must be attended each day, chapel being at sunrise, later changed to 6:30 to avoid variations. Students must retire at 10 o'clock. Students must not play cards or drink liquor without a physician's prescription. Students must not leave the campus without permission from the college president. No theatres or circuses could be attended, either in Greencastle or Putnamville. Parents were asked not to send money to their children but to send it to the Professor who would pay all the bills. Discipline was characterized as being "mild but strict."

The first year the University occupied a one-room building later moving to the old Seminary building and later West College was constructed. The first faculty consisted of two teachers, Matthew Simpson the president and Cyrus Nutt, who later became president of Indiana University. The student body was made up of two juniors, two sophomores and eight freshmen. As Dr. Longden stated it, two 7 passenger automobiles could have transported the entire faculty and student body. Latin Greek and Mathematics made up the curriculum. Matthew Simpson at the time he became president, was even younger than the Chicago University president now, Simpson being but 27 years of age at the time. However the Methodist college president was a close friend of Abraham Lincoln and his chief adviser.

Comparing the records of these early graduates and those of today, Dr. Longden stated that of the first forty men to receive diplomas, three became U. S. Senators, two state governors, two congressmen, seven college presidents, four national editors, one minister to Italy, a number of judges, ministers and teachers. One was killed in the Mexican war and another was lost in '49 gold rush. The first commencement had Matthew Simpson, Governor Wright and Henry Ward Beecher.

In 1937 DePauw will celebrate its centennial and already plans are going forward to make this celebration the outstanding event in its already glorious history.

COMMODITY DEPARTMENTS OF INDIANA FARM BUREAU
EARN MONEY FOR FARMERS

As a forerunner to the local Farm Bureau membership drive here, leaders are calling attention to recent accomplishments of the various commodity departments of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation. They point out that cooperative livestock marketing at Indianapolis has resulted in net earnings of $38,997.19 in six years which has been returned to the producers in patronage refunds, and also a much better market has resulted from their efforts. More than 30 per cent of the receipts of that market during the past year have been handled by the farmer-owned commission agency.

Indiana Farm Bureau members shipping to other producer commission firms at Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Evansville, Cleveland and Chicago have likewise received large patronage refunds consisting of the net profits.

Cooperative buying of fertilizer through the purchasing department of the State Farm Bureau has resulted in profits through patronage refunds of more than $530,000 in the past six years, making a reduction of about five dollars per ton to members. Likewise big savings have been made through collective buying of seeds, feeds, coal, machinery, twine and other supplies, it is said.

Many cooperative dairy associations have been sponsored by the Farm Bureau throughout the state in recent years which have resulted in raising the prices of milk products to dairy farmers. Large dairy products manufacturing plants have been established at Muncie, Columbus, Crawfordsville and Marion, and many plants without manufacturing equipment have been established at several other points in the state. Not only have better milk prices resulted at these points, but large annual patronage dividends have been refunded to members in many instances adding to their farm profits materially.

Collective wood and grain marketing also come in for their share of added profits to farmers through organized agriculture. A tax department has assisted in sponsoring an economic budget program throughout the state, which has resulted in lowering proposed government expenses in 1930 of about six million dollars.

Local Farm Bureau leaders say that because of the many accomplishments of the Farm Bureau in the past few years that a greatly increased membership is expected within the county will be invited to become a member.

The new membership agreement is a continuous one wherein the annual dues of five dollars will be mailed annually to the Farm Bureau office thus eliminating the expense of personal solicitation each year. However, the member can withdraw his membership at a stated period in any year that he may desire.

WOMEN MAKE
THIRD CLEAN
FOOD APPEAL

CAMPAIGN TO PROTECT READY-TO-EAT FOODS ALREADY HAD GOOD RESULTS—STORE KEEPERS HAVE SHOWN FINE SPIRIT AND COOPERATION

The Clean Food Committee of the Greencastle Council of Clubs is issuing its third appeal. First of all the women conducting this campaign wish to express their gratitude to the proprietors of food stores who have shown such a fine spirit of co-operation. In the beginning, there were a few places where there were scarcely any need for greater care in the protection of ready-to-eat foods from germ carriers. It has been noted that even in those places improvements are being made that will place these stores at the top of the list as dispensers of clean foods.

Then too, there are places where conditions had in the beginning been improved. For this improvement every intelligent citizen is grateful and asks for still more.

The superintendent of a well-patronized grocery said:

"You women are helping us. We are grateful. If you persevere, you can make every store in town observe the food regulations. It is up to you. And stress again the obligation of the customer. We have people here every day taking off covers and handling not only cookies and candies, but such foods as sauerkraut. We are doing our best to keep covers on. You help us to keep the hands of customers off."

It is hard to understand how such habits survive in an enlightened community; and this present time when the dread spinal meningitis germ is active in our land, is a good time for each and all of us proprietor, clerk, and customer, to see to it that no such offense occurs without rebuke.

In another case a woman chosen for the task appealed personally to a proprietor for his co-operation. It was found he was ignorant of the food regulations and had not taken the campaign seriously. When he understood he promptly promised immediate and hearty co-operation. If he keeps his promise women will go out of their way to trade at his shop.

With deep regret the women have to report that there are places where conditions were bad in the beginning and there has been no improvement. The proprietors are evidently ignorant of the food laws and unaware that for the past month a score of women have been watching hopefully for their ready-to-eat foods to be placed under cover. This means doughnuts, cookies, dates, candies, pickles, cooked meats and the like.

It is hoped that when the Council of Clubs meets on Jan. 20 and all reports are turned in, the name of every man and woman who sells food in Greencastle will be in the right place. So will they prove their interest in the welfare of this community.

MUMPS AT BELLE UNION

TELEGRAM FROM PRESIDENT OF DEPAUW UNIVERSITY STATES THAT OPERATION WAS MUCH MORE EXTENSIVE THAN HAD BEEN ANTICIPATED

CONDITION OF PATIENT GRAVE
Illness Develops While Greencastle Woman Was Visiting Relatives In California During The Holiday Season Husband Rushes To Bedside

That the condition of Mrs. G. Bromley Oxnam, wife of the president of DePauw University who is in a hospital in Los Angeles, is critical, was expressed in a telegram from Dr. Oxnam, received Friday morning by the University Administration.

A telegram addressed to his university office said: "Please thank students and everyone for kind telegrams. Mrs. Oxnam is seriously ill. Operation was more dangerous and extensive than anticipated. She will be in hospital for a month. I expect to return in two weeks. We hope for recovery but are exceedingly anxious at present."

Mrs. Oxnam had gone with their daughter Betty to Los Angeles shortly before Christmas to pass the holidays. At that time she was apparently in good health although she had entered an Indianapolis hospital for observation and treatment some several weeks before. She was returned home within a few days, however, without undergoing an operation at that time.

The seriousness of Mrs. Oxnam's present illness is seen in Dr. Oxnam's telegram. A meeting of the board of trustees of the university, set for January 13, was cancelled as it was indicated that the DePauw president would not return to the campus for two weeks or more.

The first news of her illness was received in a telegram to Dr. Oxnam from California stating that Mrs. Oxnam was in a serious condition and had been taken to a Los Angeles hospital for an operation to relieve her condition.

This message was received last Saturday and Dr. Oxnam and his son, Philip, left immediately for California, taking a train to Kansas City and a passenger plane from Kansas City west.

The message this morning telling of the critical condition of Mrs. Oxnam was the first word received from Dr. Oxnam concerning the condition of his wife.

GOOD INSTITUTE AT CLOVERDALE
A good attendance marked the farmer's institute which was held yesterday at Cloverdale. Mrs. Stella Goldsmith, DeKalb county, was one of the chief speakers, and Mr. Addison Drake of Fairbanks delivered an interesting talk.

Local talent furnished the remainder of an interesting program.

The total attendance was about 50 in the morning and 80 in the afternoon. An excellent poultry and corn display was made, and the noonday luncheon was enjoyed by all.

Club leaders chosen for Cloverdale township are Miss Lenora Tabor, Miss Hazel Rigg, Lee Walters and Mrs. Frank Morrison. These constitute a very efficient group of leaders and should make a good record.

This morning in parts an aftermath to the sheet storm. Interurban and bus transportation system were crippled. Telephone communications were interrupted.

The magnitude of the great sheet storm became evident when the Indiana Bell Telephone Company announced that at least 2,000 of its poles were down.

The company reported that in the worst stricken areas the ice had formed on the wires to the thickness of an inch and a half. A brisk wind today would tremendously increase the damage company officials said.

First estimates made by company officials today placed the storm damage at $100,000.

"Some of our maintenance crews have reported that never before has such thick ice formed on the wires," one company official said.

LOCOMOTIVE LEAPS TRACK DESTROYS BOILER FACTORY

LEBANON, Ind., Jan. 8.—Adjusters representing the Big Four railroad company were in Lebanon this afternoon estimating the damage caused by a 150-ton locomotive which jumped a short spur track and crashed into the boiler room of the Indestructible Wheel plant, resulting in a loss believed to be more than $2,000. The engine crumpled the brick building housing the boiler, the roof collapsing when sections of the walls toppled over. Two plant employees had fired the boiler only a few minutes before the crash and were in another part of the factory when the boiler room was reduced to debris.

"KONJOLA" ONLY MEDICINE THAT DID ANY GOOD"

Indianapolis Man Freed of Stomach, Liver and Kidney Troubles—Praises New Compound

MR. WILLIAM COX

"Konjola was the only medicine that did any good," said Mr. William Cox, 1294 Perry avenue, Indianapolis. Two years ago I was afflicted with three ailments; stomach, liver and kidney troubles. From that time on I rapidly failed in health. Medicines and treatments were of no avail for I failed to get the slightest relief. Mials caused more distress than they did good. I constantly suffered from dizzy spells. I had to rise many times at night and during the day my back ached terribly.

"Now my only regret is that I didn't take Konjola sooner. This splendid medicine went right to work; I could almost feel it. Today there isn't a trace of those ailments and I am eating, sleeping and feeling like a different person. No wonder I am so enthusiastic about Konjola.

Konjola is sold in Greenecastle at Owl drug store, and he all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Colds are serious. Even mild cases are dangerous. Remember KONJOLA COLD COMPOUND (tablets) is giving amazing relief to thousands of cold sufferers every year. These tablets are of the same high quality as Konjola.

2 SUPERINTENDENTS RUN CRAWFORD COUNTY FARM

ENGLISH, Ind., Jan. 8.—Crawford county has two superintendents for the county farm as result of the appointment Monday of Charles Eastbridge, Republican, by the board of county commissioners. Thomas Parks, Republican, elected in November, 1928, assumed office today, giving the Republicans a majority on the board. In a special session prior to the retirement of C. E. Reesor, Democrat, the board declared the office of county farm superintendent vacant and re-appointed Charles Armstrong, Democrat. It is said the matter will be carried into Crawford Circuit court for a decision. Valentine Delch, Republican has been named county road superintendent to succeed H. H. Grant, Democrat.

SHOW of SHOWS by WILLARD KEEFE

Copyright 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"Show of Shows," the Warner Bros. Vitaphone picture was the source for the material on which these stories are based.

SYNOPSIS
Leo Hanlon meets Queenie Quins, Hollywood script girl, who lands him an extra role in "Show of Shows," the musical revue film. Leo appears in numbers starring John Barrymore and Monte Blue. Queenie, who takes more than a business interest in Leo, advises him to learn the "inside" of picture production. As the shooting of "Show of Shows" continues, Hanlon takes part in a comedy number with Lupino Lane and in the grand finale. The latter scene, strangely enough, is shot when the picture is only half completed.

INSTALLMENT NINE
Georges Carpentier, fresh from triumphs in the theatre of Paris, was one of the picturesque principals of "Show of Shows." The friendliest of persons, Georges was not slow in becoming a favorite with the humbler players. Like most athletes, he had an abundance of excess energy and this he vented in clowning around the lot.

One day he entertained a huge audience demonstrating to Alice White the necessity of keeping the chin sheltered. Alice, who appeared with the French athlete in the Eiffel Tower scene, sparred gamely and once or twice managed to thrust her dainty fist into the middle of Georges' radiant grin. She despaired of inflicting any permanent damage on him, however, and shortly called upon Patsy Ruth Miller to take up the fight. Miss Miller pleaded other plans.

It was easy to perceive that Carpentier had brought more than athletic prestige to the pictures. His was an engaging personality and his voice surprisingly pleasant in song. Indeed his singing of "If I Could Learn to Love" was indubitably the most attractive feature of the Eiffel Tower scene.

Under the guidance of the tireless Mr. Haskell, the chorus girls, captained by Alice White and Patsy Ruth Miller, descend upon Georges with every indication of affection. Georges demurs and there ensues an amiable argument, words by Herman Ruby fetchingly mimicked by M. K. Jerome. Georges laments his amorous shortcomings thus:

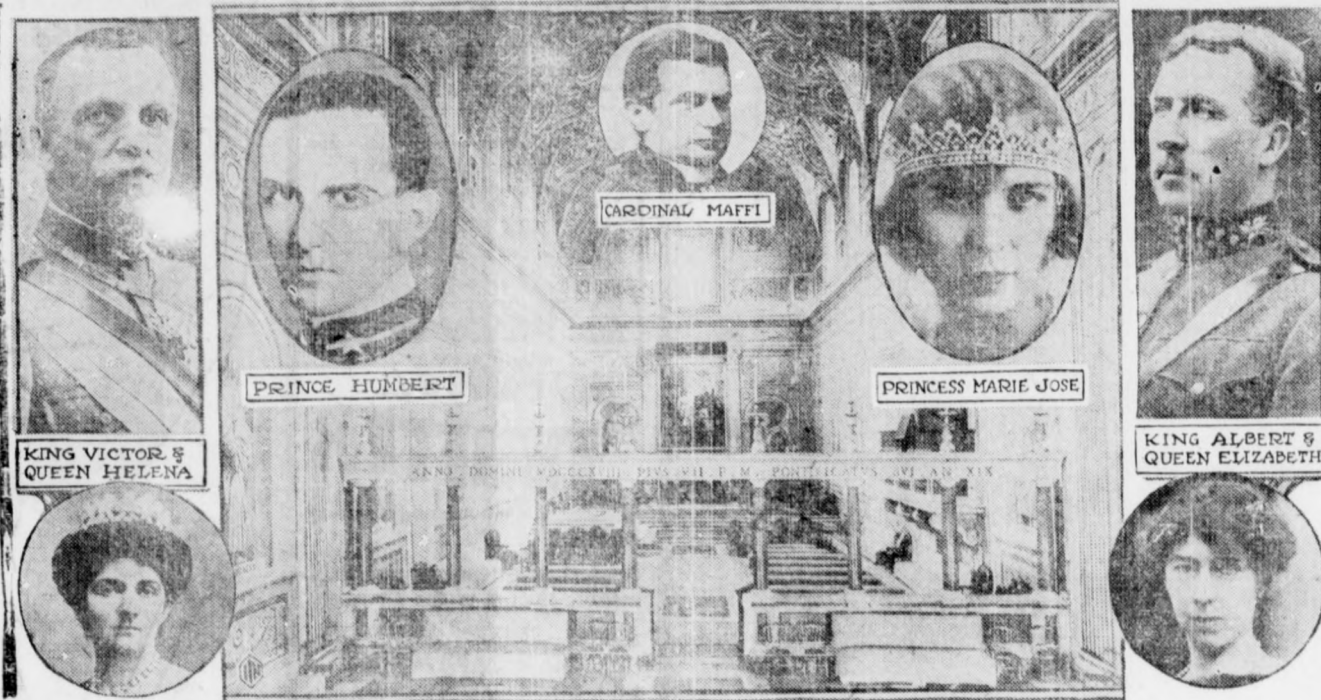

"I'd keep aiming from the start
For a blow right to the heart,
And I'd learn to use my right
In a romantic bout;
I wish I could win,
I just knock Cupid out
With a left on the chin.
"Oh, what a picnic this would be!
"Wouldn't this world be tres full
If I could learn to love
"As well as I fight."

Then, by way of impressing upon any casual watchers that he meant what he sang, Georges vanished for a time. When he returned he wore, instead of the faultless morning attire of the boulevard, a gym suit. Likewise the girls prepared themselves for Georges' gym class.

There they were then, grouped in front of an admirable replica of the Eiffel Tower, performing one of Mr. Haskell's novelty dances. The number was a skillful combination of a setting-up exercise and tap dances retaining the best, and most difficult, features of each.

All Rome Jubilant at Royal Wedding

With a festive air prevailing the city, its residents worked furiously to deck Rome in gala array for the wedding of Princess Marie Jose and Crown Prince Humbert. Flags and bunting were hung everywhere. Garlands of flowers were much in evidence. Colored electric bulbs were strung across many street, where dancing in picturesque costumes, military processions and religious ceremonies were to be held during the six-day jamboree following the wedding.

VONCASTLE
"The Drifter" Starring Tom Mix
Opens Tonight

Unfolding a rousing story of the West that offers sterling entertainment for adults and children alike, the production, "The Drifter," which stars Tom Mix, comes to the Voncastle Theatre tonight for an engagement of two days.

The frontier meets the new West in Tom's latest feature in which a thrilling airplane flight occupies a considerable portion of the action. Tony, Tom's wender horse, is the star's constant companion in "The Drifter." Another animal, a white mule, ranks as a principal in the action for the reason that it is the only living creature which knows the way to a secret mine—the bone of contention among all the human principals in the production.

GRANADA

"Dance Hall" Now Showing
An episode of life—a human interest story woven around the beautiful love of a boy for a little "hostess" in a dance hall—such is the character of the all-talking, musical Radio Picture "Dance Hall," which opens tonight at the Granada Theatre for a two days' run.

Olive Borden and Arthur Lake have the principal roles and give performances that are said to surpass anything either has attempted so far. As the youthful "hoofers" whose romance is very nearly blasted through the machinations of a suave air pilot, they are called upon to display unusual dramatic skill, as well as to execute difficult dance steps through a number of scenes in the picture.

Ralph Emerson, emacts the part of the flyer, and Joseph Cawthorn, famous on the stage for more than a half century as a German comic, is seen as the proprietor of the dance hall.

HARDWOOD

HITS

Believe it or not, the picture at the top of our column yesterday was that of Jimmy Tobin diving after the ball and landing on his left ear.

We hope that none of the ice on the streets gets onto the gym floor tonight, for we don't want anything of the sort to happen when the Tiger Cubs tangle with Bainbridge.

Everybody in Greencastle and Bainbridge will be at the gym tonight when the battle begins. And it will be a battle, with Greencastle winning.

As a rule we don't believe in predicting scores, but here goes for a shot at it. Tonight's tussel will be Greencastle, 35, Bainbridge 23. Let's see how far we miss it.

Putnam county games which will be played this week-end include a tussel between Belle Union and Cloverdale to be played on the latter's floor Friday night. This should be a real game. Others are Quincy at Fillmore, and Amo at Rhachdale.

Saturday night will bring together Marshall at Russellville, Cloverdale at Danville, and Reelsville at Eminence.

BODY OF SELF-SLAIN MAN

IS FOUND NEAR LAFAYETTE

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 7.—The body of Angus W. C. Ward, 66 years old, a resident of the city for the last few weeks and formerly of Chicago, was found today pierced by bullets near the edge of the city.

A revolver still clutched in his hand led authorities to believe he had committed suicide. One bullet had passed through his head and another through his chest. Ward disappeared late yesterday and the condition of his body indicated he had killed himself last night. Ill health was thought to have been the reason for his deed.

Today was his birthday. He was a native of England, but had spent most of his life as a mechanical engineer at Chicago.

EVANSVILLE IS NEXT FOR TIGER SHARPSHOOTERS

DEPAUW BASKETBALL TEAM INVADES SOUTHERN CITY TO CONTINUE SCORING MARCH

DePauw university's accurate shooting basketball team turned from its 42-29 victory over Franklin college Tuesday night to a consideration of Evansville college whom the Tigers will meet on the latter's floor Saturday night.

In the Franklin game DePauw made eight baskets in its first twelve shots and averaged 47 per cent for the entire game. Franklin averaged better than 28 per cent for the game. In several tilts this season the DePauw netters have turned in an average of 46 per cent of their shots.

DePauw is not discounting Evansville. Last year the Tigers were barely able to nose out the latter on their own floor by two points. Evansville taking an early lead and holding it until near the close of the game.

Following the encounter at Evansville, DePauw has three hard games in a row going to Crawfordsville for their first tilt with Wabash January 16, then entertaining Butler January 21 and State Normal of Terre Haute January 24. State Normal gave DePauw its first defeat of the season 32-27 at Terre Haute. These four games completes the Tiger card for January.

To date the Tigers have defeated Rose Poly, Indiana university, Earlham, the University of Illinois and Franklin State Normal of Terre Haute and Illinois Wesleyan hold victories over the Tigers. The latter winning in the last second of play after DePauw had a three point lead, a basket and double three throw accounting for the points.

STUDENTS ARE PLEASED

WITH TALK BY KIMBERLIN

DANVILLE, Jan. 10.—Central Normal College students and faculty were given a real treat on Thursday morning in an address by Robert Kimberlin, son of Rev. and Mrs. Kimberlin.

Mr. Kimberlin represented DePauw university in the International School at Geneva, Switzerland, last summer. By virtue of a foundation, students were selected from different nations to this school to study questions of international importance. These students were addressed by men of national and international renown who were specialists on questions they discussed.

It was quite evident that Mr. Kimberlin had thoroughly availed himself of the exceptional opportunities given to him. He devoted his thirty minutes allotted to him for his address in giving a very careful characterization of the several classes of students who were in attendance: American, English, Italian, French and German.

The thought as well as his presentation was highly worthy of one of maturer years and experience. I have had the pleasure of hearing many distinguished men. But never have I sat and listened with more pleasure to a more masterly address. His language was faultless. His vocabulary copious and adequate. His voice pleasing, distinct and clear. In thought he brought information that certainly should be gratifying to any American citizen.—Danville Republican.

GANGSTER VICTIM

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—(INS)—Believed to be another gangster "put on the spot" by rival interests, James McManus was found today near death with a heavy steel-jacket bullet in his back.

A motorist encountered the wounded man shortly after two fusillades of five or six shots apiece were heard. McManus, who has a long police record, was bandaging a revolver in each hand.

"Drive me to a hospital," he gasped, "I'm shot."

He refused to say who had shot him. McManus' automobile stood near the spot where he was picked up. It was filled with a safe-breakers' tools. Besides the guns he held in each hand McManus had a third in his hip pocket.
